Happy, Healthy Smiles at Scarritt Elementary

By Patsy Hawkins, RDH

Happy, Healthy Smiles was my theme as I visited the Scarritt Elementary School in Kansas City, Missouri. I enjoyed sharing basic home care instructions for good dental health with two classes of culturally diverse beautiful children in their after-school health program, headed by Paula Rummel, RN.

During the session, my son Chris Allen assisted me in showing two CD's on a laptop computer. The first featured two small dogs in "Andy's First Visit to a Dental Office". Later the children watched, Kirby, a real chimpanzee, learn how to brush his teeth. With the help of a puppet crocodile, we reviewed the "2 X 2" reminder to brush at least twice a day for at least two minutes each. The children enjoyed watching the crocodile spit water from his mouth after swishing. Each child received a bag of toothpaste, toothbrush, floss, and an apple, (an example of a 'healthy' snack) to take home.

In over thirty years as a dental hygienist, I found these young students at Scarritt Elementary to be the most attentive and respectful that I can remember! Hopefully, they were encouraged to take good care of their teeth. I wish for them a lifetime of Happy, Healthy Smiles!
